Memories recall the entrance to our house of learning.

Mr. Klitzke's time is well spent at his office desk.

We take time out to pose with two of our helpers and supervisors.

The school term is the time to study and learn with one another.

We take time out for play as well as work.

FACULTY

Nor shall we let slip from our minds our teachers, advisors, and sponsors who listened to our moans and groans, likes and dislikes, through our high school days. We didn't always agree with them, nor they with us, but we knew all the time what they said 'went' and they were right. We couldn't see that the work was for our benefit and it was their patience that got us from one day into another.

We didn't understand then but we will when our days with them and Nappanee High are over.

FACULTY AND CLASS

For our Victory Bond Drive two of our co-operative teachers, Mr. Weddle and Mr. Cudworth, gave a shaving demonstration in return for the buying of several bonds.

Mr. Weddle gave us a demonstration in health class of how to bandage a burned hand. Bob Stillson was the sad victim. The on-lookers were Lois Thomas, Dean Guard, George Flowers, and Jacquie Estep.

Other attractions at our Bond Drive were Fred "Bing Crosby" Curtis and Jim "Harry James" Lentz. They were persuaded to play by bond pledges.

SNAPS

Time before and between classes.

The Hi-Y mile of dimes was for a worthy cause.

Mr. Klitzke gives "Bus" a shine for his share in buying war bonds.

Someone just gave me a beautiful clock

Which guards o'er my desk like a dog o'er its flock.

It advises me, urges me, warns me and pleads

And generally keeps me as prompt as my needs.

DIPLOMA HOUR

To The Class of 1946:

Congratulations, members of the Class of 1946, for your achievement in earning a high school diploma bearing the name and seal of Nappanee High School. You will now be accepted in the select group of men and women who constitute the alumni of the school, ranging from the first class of 1898 to the newest and latest—"your class" of 1946.

As members of this association, you will be expected to shoulder the important responsibilities of citizenship in the new post-war world. Although most of your high school days were spent under the gray skies of world conflict, I am confident that you, with the other thousands of graduates of high schools all over the country, will work as hard for a lasting, righteous world peace as you did in giving all-out assistance to our country during the war period.

If your school training, made possible by teachers, administrators, school board members, parents, and friends of education, will be of value to you in understanding and improving human relations in the larger environment in which you must now live, this will indeed be re-assuring proof that our American school system has made its contribution in building a better world.

If at all possible, plan to continue your formal education in your chosen field of endeavor—if not, so discipline and shape your everyday living and thinking to provide the utmost happiness, success, and satisfaction in accepting the responsibilities of citizenship in this great country we so proudly call America.

Sincerely,

L. K. Klitzke, Supt.

CLASS WILL

We, the class of 1946, possessing superior mentality and extraordinary talents, do hereby declare this to be our last will and testament.

I

As we are about to leave these "Famed Halls of Education" we wish to bestow upon the underclassmen, these, our priceless possessions:

To the freshmen our coyness and ability to influence the teachers which we lacked as frosh but accumulated through four years of expcrience.

To the sophomores all our grief, work, and sacrifice we made in planning the reception in our junior year.

To the juniors our dignity and superior minds which come only with greatest intelligence and experience and which they will need much of in the next year.

II

To the entire faculty we bequeath our love and appreciation for the many things they have done so graciously to give us our poise and self-confidcnce to face our future with the utmost intelligence created from our career in N. H. S.

III

The remaning will and testaments are the greatest bcqucsts that could possibly come from the depths of the grateful, humble, and generous hearts of the seniors.

I, Doris Elaine Anglin, will my surpulus (?) weight and height to Anna Lou Gonderman to be added to her own.

I, Richard Earl Arnott, will my interest in economics to any junior who likes it as well as I did.

I, Verna Lou Arnott, will my giggling part in the class play to anyone in next year's cast who thinks she can take the part as naturally as I did.

I, Dallas William Burkholder, will my dark complexion to Dick Klitzke.

I, Jean Ellen Dunnuck, will my good nature to Jane Lou Bigler.

I, Jacqueline Estep, will my ability of going with several men at the same time (especially sailors) to any one who thinks she can do any better.

I, George Dallas Flowers, will my green sweater to George Byers to take the place of his red plaid shirt.

I, Dale Junior Hershberger, will my comic books and sleeping hours in the assembly to Dick Linn, knowing that he will make good use of them.

I, Joseph William Gould, will my dignity and quiet manner to Beverly Hahn.

I, Willis Dean Guard, will my "interest" in Manchester College to anyone who likes to drive her Merry Oldsmobile better than I do.

I, Phyllis Jean Guard, will my hard work and long hours on the annual to next year's Napanet editor.

We, Herman Burdett Hall and Jeanette Fay Clouse, will our cozy seats in economics class to Dick Stoops and Peg Lloyd provided they can hold hands as long as we did without Mr. White's knowing it.

I, Rose Marie Hartman, do will my ability in being late in the morning to my younger sister, Kate, because I know she will have as far to come as I did.

I, Dorothy May Hood, will my studious nature to my sister, Betty.

I, William Lee Hostetter, will my complete wardrobe to George Stoops to be used sparingly with what he already has.

We, Betty Lou Lynch and Marilyn Ann Huff, will our positions as waitresses at the B. and B. to any two who can work together as long as we have and still remain such good pals.

I, Joyce Elaine Klingaman, will my tall, light and lean boy friend to Joan Strauss to create a pleasing contrast.

I, Robert Lamar Kring, will my ability of skipping school and getting by with it to Joan Stuckman so she doesn't get caught so often.

I, Delores Janet Kurtz, will my stories and jokes to anyone who thinks he can tell any bigger and better ones.

I, James Keith Mellinger, will my famous butch-haircut to Fred Curtis to be used as long as it doesn't hinder his popularity in his swoon crooning.

I, Wilbur James Metzler, will my out-of-town flames to George Malcolm provided he never finds anyone more interesting in town.

I, David Warren Miller, will my tall sea-faring tales to Dewey Eppley knowing that he has a good start now.

I, Richard Eugene Miller, do will my ability of telling blood curdling, spine-chilling tales in speech class to Art Schwartz.

I, Betty Lou Moore, will my dimples to Dick Callander to add to what he has already.

I, Shirley Arbelle Pittman, will my bookkeeping apparatus to anyone that can slave over it harder than I.

I, Louise ..... Pletcher, will my long wavy locks to Mr. White and Mr. Roose to be divided evenly.

I, Barbara Ellen Postma, will my high soprano voice to Phyllis Weaver.

I, Aubrey Walter Schultz, will my trust-worthy bicycle to Lowell Kuhn to aid him in his long trip to and from school.

I, Jean Ellen Sechrist, will my light blond curly hair to my cousin, Nancy Jo Sechrist.

I, Landon Lyle Smith, will my height and ability to play basketball to next year's center player, hoping he will do as well as I have done.

I, Earl Eugene Sponseller, will my position as manager of the Bulldogs to Levi Tobias.

I, Robert Gabriel Stillson, will my shyness and quietness to Betty Strang.

I, Lois Irene Thomas, will my wittiness to Margaret Farrington.

I, John Isaac Thompson, will my golden-toned trumpet and orchestra to David Widmoyer if he thinks he could have the patience I have had with them.

I, Mary Helen Walters, will my blue basketball sweater and my ever-faithful soldier friend to anyone who thinks she could write more letters to him than I have.

IV

All the superfluous possessions we bequeath to our beloved economics teacher, Mr. White.

We do hereby appoint Mr. Lewis G. Habegger as sole executor of our last will and testament. In witness thereof, we the class of 1946, seal this on the seventeenth day of April Anno Domini, one thousand nine hundred and forty-six.

WITNESSES:

PROPHECY

During our recent journey to the Orient we were privileged to visit the Oriental Garden of the famed "seer," Rajah Hubba-Hubba. While walking through the garden we ran into an old friend, Aubrey Schultz, who, we learned was "Keeper of the Keys" of the Hubba mansion and it was through him that we were permitted to see the Rajah. We herewith disclose to you the astonishing events that took place in this exclusive mansion.

We were first ushered into a large room, heavily carpeted with oriental rugs. At the windows hung beautiful gold embroidered curtains and the walls were inlaid with mirrors from floor to ceiling. Then we entered a dimly lighted hall which led to a small darkened room; entering the room we were greeted by a heavily robed and bejeweled figure which was the Rajah in person. He motioned to us to sit down by a small table. He then asked us what we would like to know. We told him we would like to know what the future holds in store for us, the class of '46. Without a word to us he went through some queer motions and mumbled some magic words. No sooner had he spoken than his "atomic" crystal exploded and left in the air a large puff of smoke, from which emerged our classmates, one by one.

The first thing that came into view was the Stork Club with neon lights which read: "Starring Thompson's Tormentors." Looking inside we saw the leader of the band was JOHN THOMPSON. We noticed that BARBARA POSTMA was his featured vocalist. The Rajah interrupted at this point to tell us, and to our great surprise, that Barbara was now MRS. THOMPSON. Now who would ever have thought that John would go blond crazy! ! !

The Empire State Building then came into view and high on a ladder we saw a man industriously washing the 85th story windows—we were amazed to see that it was LYLE SMITH.

The scene shifted to another of New York's night spots and we saw photo bulbs flashing as the wealthy oil heiress, ROSE HARTMAN, entered the Club Morocco on the arm of DALE HERSHBERGER, who was working for the Excellent Escort Service. The Rajah told us that Rosie's Millions were inherited from "Clell's Shell." We observed that the Photographers were from Spot Shot magazine and were none other than DALLAS BURKHOLDER and GEORGE FLOWERS. They got their first experiences in photography from working on the '46 Napanet and decided to make a career of it. We saw that the Morocco was run by BILL HOSTETTER. Nice going, Bill! ! ! As we looked inside we noticed the snappy hat-check girl was DOROTHY HOOD. Now, Bill!!!

Our view then changed to the Waldorf Astoria. Inside we saw that DELOROS KURTZ was head receptionist. She always wanted to spend a week-end at the Waldorf, (with or without Van), and now she was stationed there permanently. Rajah Hubba-Hubba broke in at this point and said, "Speaking of Van Johnson, your classmate, JEAN DUNNUCK, has followed her heart's desire to Hollywood and is finally satisfied with being his private secretary."

Next to come into view was the comic strip, Little Lulu, featured in the New York Times, and to our surprise it was drawn by our own JIM MELLINGER. The Rajah called our attention to the resemblance of Little Lulu to LOIS THOMAS, who was now the model.

We then saw a brightly colored neon light saying, "Moore's Modern Modes." Looking inside the large building the sign hung on we saw BETTY MOORE pinning and draping a clinging black nylon material on the shapely figure of her model LOUISE PLETCHER.

Another small explosion occurred and Ashland College came into view. We saw a cheering crowd. We asked the Rajah what it was all about. He answered, "Your classmate, HERMAN HALL, has reached the height of his coaching career as his Ashland 'Eagles' have just defeated the Notre Dame Irish 97-32."

Next we saw a jet-propelled train streaking into Garrett; jumping out of the engineer's cab was BOB CROWE. Could that really be his interest in Garrett? We wonder! ! !

The smoke lifted and on the outskirts of Nappanee we saw two bedraggled, weather-beaten characters feebly lifting their thumbs toward the east. Looking closer we saw it was Bob Stillson and Wilbur Metzler—still on their way to Milford! ! !

While yet in the suburbs of Nappanee we caught sight of a little fly-in restaurant with a special helicopter landing field in back. A sign above it read, "Lynch and Huff Snappy Service." Just think, Marilyn Huff and Betty Lynch still in the same business; their motto must be "The way to a man's heart is through his stomach."

The scene quickly changed to the familiar street of Elm; immediately Walter's Beauty Shoppe came into view. We saw Mrs. Kenny Walters, formerly Phyllis Guard, in a stiff white uniform deftly shampooing Shirley Pittman's hair. The Rajah again interrupted to say that Shirley was the top-notch socialite of Nappanee and was throwing a big party for the governor that night.

We also saw a little red schoolhouse in Locke; inside at the teacher's desk we saw Jeanette Clouse ruler in hand and specks on her nose, looking very bored, teaching her government class. Too bad Hermie wasn't there to hold her hand as he used to in government class back in '46.

Next to come into view was radio station J O K E of Goshen and behind the "mike" in a flashy red and white ensemble we saw Joyce Klingaman. Her interest still seemed to lie in Goshen.

The smoke swirled higher and Manchester College came into the scene. One of the doors inside attracted our attention—Dean Guard, Professor of Ancient History. Because the door was opened we could see Dean in horn-rimmed glasses behind the massive desk, his brow knitted in deep thought. The question was: "Were his thoughts about ancient Greece or a co-ed of ancient Manchester in '46?"

This picture faded and into its place came Playland Park at South Bend. There, speeding around the race track, was the famed "Hell Driver," Bob Kring. He always was pretty good at being reckless and now it was his profession.

The smoke rose higher and we were in Chicago viewing a sky-scraper. On one of the windows we noticed big black letters reading: Dale Freet, Accounting and Bookkeeping. He at last had his reward for being so studious in high school.

We saw next a large animal hospital with Dave Miller as head-surgeon. Inside, Joe Gould was nervously pacing the floor awaiting news from the doctor concerning his famed race horse, "Shirlwind." We learned from the Rajah that Joe was manager of the Spink Hotel and was now going in for horse racing and that his entire fortune depended on this sick horse's recovery,

The smoke rose higher and with a low rumble Hollywood, California, came into view. We then saw on the corner of Twig and Vine Street, Richard Miller's Vineyard Restaurant. "Rich" we were told, bought this from Tom Brenneman a few years back. Inside we recognized as master of ceremonies Eugene Sponseller and Jean Sechrist as the featured singer.

Then we saw a small apartment house. As the scene was brought closer we saw Jacquie Estep patiently going over her dance routine, the Swoony Swan Dance, which she had made famous. (We also heard that she had revised the "Hootchie Cootchie" and made something quite modern out of it.)

The last small puff took us out to Warner Brothers Studio and there we saw Dick Arnott doing a stand-in for Tyrone Power in a scene from the "Saturday Night Date." In competition with "Hinge" was his little sister, Verna Lou who was starring in "Hilarious Comedy," produced by Paramount so the Rajah informed us. Imagine ! ! ! Both the Arnotts in the Movies! !

As the smoke began to fade the writers came into view; we saw the South Bend Tribune and Doris's Want Ad for miscellaneous items such as: Baton pupils, piano pupils, clarinet students, and The Civil Engineer. On the opposite page we saw Mary's advice column—her topic was "What To Do With a Philandering Husband."

And This, dear classmates, is what destiny has in store for you.

JUNIORS

PRESIDENT ..... Dick Stoops

VICE-PRESIDENT ..... Pegge Lloyd

SECRETARY-TREASURER ..... Nancy Uline

And now we are Juniors. We are busy, curious, determined, and often anxious. We work together, as we have worked and played together since the first grade, with the smoothness of accustomed teamwork. As new members have entered the class we have absorbed them into our group, welcoming their ideas as we taught them our class traditions and old loyalties.

Dick Stoops has made a good president this year, and Nancy Uline has conscientiously done her duty as secretary for the fifth consecutive year. We have had class meetings and parties; the highlight of social events was a skating party in Elkhart.

We have forty-eight members in our class. Mr. Postma and Miss Weimer are our class sponsors.

SOPHOMORES

We, the class of '48, began our flight on September 11, 1945, with a full crew of 53. We lost only one crewman during the entire year. We elected George Byers pilot and Joe Stillson co-pilot, with Gordon Neterer, Betty Hostetter, Carl Lemna and Fred Curtis our special representatives to the student council. Miss Blank and Mr. Byers were our official commanders.

Our first flight was to end in November with our destination, a class party; but hazardous conditions prevented this. We tried several forced landings throughout the year for the same purpose but all failed. Finally in February our plane came to rest, despite many difficulties, and we enjoyed a class party.

We are eagerly looking forward to our next flight which will carry us into the junior year.

The time when we were our parents' pride and joy. The time has been long in years since we looked like this but we have memories to remind us of our growing-up days. Perhaps these pictures will be good for a few laughs in years to come as we look them over and wonder where our class-mates are.

While onward, relentless, the pointer revolves
Though nothing it settles and nothing it solves,
But breaks into seconds that whittle away
Our triumphs and failures, our night and our day.

NATIONAL HONOR SOCIETY

PRESIDENT .....John Thompson
VICE PRESIDENT.....Rose Marie Hartman
SECRETARY .....Robert Crowe

The National Honor Society was organized in 1921. A charter of the Society was first granted to Nappanee High School on March 25, 1936. The Society is composed of pupils who are selected by the faculty upon the bases of scholarship, leadership, service, and character. All members are chosen from the highest fifteen percent of the Senior class and five per cent of the Junior class.

Every year the Society has some project. This year the Society decided to continue to keep up-to-date, on the Honor Roll, the names of those in service. A new project of making a school curriculum book was given to the juniors of the society. The purpose of this book is to advise the underclassmen of the rules and of their duties to the school.

The Student Council is an organization made up of the members of the National Honor Society and two representatives from each home room of the Junior and Senior High School.

It is the duty and responsibility of this organization to promote projects that will help to better the morale of our school. A few of the major projects put into effect this year were drawing and distributing the tourney tickets, the Victory Bond Rally, and sponsoring a drive for better conduct in the assembly.

A copy of D' Bulldog was sent to eight exchange schools. Copies were also sent to former students serving in the armed forces.

The Girl Reserves was organized as a branch of the Elkhart Y.W.C.A. by Miss Hazel Dickey in 1925. Since that time the club has made much progress and is one of the outstanding clubs of our high school. This year our sponsors are Miss Gray and Miss Hoover.

Our new members were taken into the club on November 6 by an inspirational candle-lighting ceremony. We held a Mother's and Daughter's banquet on February 5.

We sincerely hope that the succeeding Girl Reserves will have as successful a year as we have had.

A theater party in March was the social event of the year. The serious side of the organization was impressed upon our seventy-five members at a candle-lighting service in October. The aims of the Junior Girl Reserves are stated in the theme song——

Gracious I will be in manner,
Impartial in my judgment, too,
Ready to serve,
Loyal to friends,
Each Girl Reserve this code defends.
Find and give the best
Is my purpose true,
As a loyal Girl Reserve
I will face life squarely, too.

CHORUS

PRESIDENT ..... Jean Dunnuck

VICE-PRESIDENT ..... Doris Anglin

SECRETARY and TREASURER ..... Jean Sechrist

The chorus class, consisting of 43 members, has considered this another very successful year. We feel that a great part of our success is due to our new director, Miss Gray, and to our accompanist, Nancy Uline.

The chorus has taken part in the following programs:

North Central Teachers' Association — Oct. 25
Junior Chamber of Commerce — Dec. 17
Christmas Program — Dec. 21
Bremen-Nappanee Concert — March 8-10
Baccalaureate — May 25
Commencement — May 29

The chorus, as well as a few soloists and ensembles, entered the district contest, April 12, at Goshen.

Several different things were added to the chorus class. We now have a Girls' Glee Club, a Mixed Octette, and a Girls' Sextette.

These safety patrol boys have served faithfully, aiding in the protection of grade boys and girls coming to and from school.

LIBRARIANS

Each librarian is in charge of the library one period each day. The work consists of charging all books and magazines that leave the library, collecting fines, and helping students find material.

The rule of requiring students to get permission to use the library during study hours is still in operation. This has reduced the number who visit and loaf.

Under the supervision of Miss Shively the librarians are given instructions to increase the efficiency of the library.

DEBATE

The Nappanee High School Debate Club, under the sponsorship of Mrs. Miles, has had a very interesting and active year of debating.

There were six members in the club this year. Meetings were held every Tuesday night at the school.

Members of the affirmative team were Jack Wilbur, Dewey Eppley, and Frank Coppes (alternate). Members of the negative were Doris Anglin, Arthur Schwartz, and Wayne North (alternate).

We attended debate tourneys at Laporte, Columbia City, and Wabash. We also participated in the sectional tourney at Riley and Central of South Bend. During the month of January we debated before members of the Nappanee Kiwanis Club, and on April 15 before the Current Club.

The question debated this year was: RESOLVED, That every able-bodied male citizen of the United States should have one year full-time military training before attaining the age of 24.

We have had a very enjoyable year and are looking forward to the coming season.

—Jack Wilbur

We're killing time, but it's fun. The upper left-hand picture was taken at the class tourney, and incidentally, the seniors beat the juniors 46-48 (the best game of the year).

COACHES AND MANAGERS

Our coaches are James Weddle and Elmer Cudworth, who have trained our athletes to participate in various sports. They have spent many hours trying to develop the boys into players of winning teams. Mr. Weddle has charge of the basketball and baseball teams; Mr. Cudworth coaches the track team and junior high basketball.

Taping and wrapping ankles and sore spots, taking care of all the basketballs, playing suits, and all other equipment, and during a game keeping the players supplied with towels, balls and knee pads,—all go to prove that being a student manager is an important job. This position was very capably handled by Eugene Sponseller and Levi Tobias.

CHEERLEADERS

Joan, Bus, and Jane were elected our new cheerleaders this year. They have done well in keeping the spirits of the fans and team high during the season, and their efforts have been appreciated by the faculty and the team.

BASKETBALL

On February 14 the Pups concluded the basketball season with a record of seven wins and eleven defeats. The Pups lost five close games that could have gone either way and with this fact the season could not be termed as bad. The Pups were all evenly divided in the scoring except for Hersberger who led in that department with 117 points.

The Pups' most thrilling victory was their upset victory over the John Adams Eagles who were leading in the second team Conference when they came to Nappanee looking for an easy victory, only to be badly beaten 39 to 28.

The Pups, consisting mostly of sophomores, will be a really tough team to beat in the future and we wish them luck in their many games to come.

BASKETBALL

Dean Guard

Herman Hall

On February 14 the Bulldogs concluded the basketball season with a record of five wins and thirteen defeats. The Bulldogs, although only two of them had played varsity ball before, gave the fans some thrilling moments in all of their encounters.

The team, led by Hermie Hall, won over New Paris, Bremen, Madison, Michigan City, and Wakarusa. The most thrilling game to be remembered will be the Michigan City game in which the Bulldogs trailed all the way to win in the final minutes 48 to 45 with Hall and Milleman scoring 13 points between them in the last quarter. Another splendid game played by the Bulldogs was their sparkling defeat of the Wakarusa Indians, who had previously defeated the Bulldogs.

The team, like the team of the year before, had its tough luck, though not as bad, when Kenny Walters enlisted in the Marines and Dean Guard had an operation that kept him out of the first six games. With Guard returning to the lineup the Bulldogs began to regain their needed spark but were up against too stiff competition. The Bulldogs had a stroke of ill luck in the sectional, also, by drawing a number one team in the state, none other than our neighbors to the north, Elkhart.
